ICYMI: New Episode of Constructing Connections Now Available!

In the second episode of Constructing Connections, Rich Barcaskey is joined with Kevin Duris, the Assistant Chief Estimator from Trumbull Corporation, who has played a vital role in the CAWP Student Estimating Competition for the past nine years.

The competition, which recently took place from February 20-22, 2025, featured 11 teams from seven universities, where students estimated costs for a local highway project, compared subcontractor quotes, and presented their findings to a panel of judges. This episode highlights the key skills students gain and emphasizes the competition's role in fostering interest in the highway industry and preparing students for future careers.

GOOD?

When struggling with alcohol addiction, a person may deny they have a problem, hide how much they drink, or lie to themselves and others about their consumption. This can make seeking treatment or talking to them about alcohol addiction difficult.

In this guide from American Addictions Centers, they outline the stages of alcohol addiction, its risk factors, how it's diagnosed, how to help an alcoholic in denial, treatment options, and more.
